SAMPLE ANSWER:

For somebody like me, who loves clothes, it's hard to decide which is my favourite piece of clothing. However, I do have one piece of clothing that I love and is my favourite.

I am going to describe a shirt that i often wear at the moment .The shirt is purple in colour which is my favourite colour.

I bought it when i was coming back from delhi after spending my summer vacations at my maternal aunt's home.

i purchased it for my daily routine wearing also i want to add some more things to my wardrobe.

It is a purple craghoppers' long-sleeved shirt. It is made of a quick-drying poly cotton blend and the fabric has some stretchy qualities which make it easy to wear. The fabric keeps out the sun, and the design incorporates a couple of pockets, one of which has a zip so you can keep small items securely on your person.

It is designed as a travel shirt, and to be honest, was rather expensive compared to clothes I would normally buy.

I LOVE this shirt. It is incredibly comfortable to wear, the colour suits me quite well, and even though it is designed as a travel shirt, it's actually smart enough to wear for work if you match it with some respectable trousers .It washes brilliantly, and if you shake it out and put it on a hanger it dries crease-free within an hour or so. The hidden pocket is handy for carrying emergency cash on your person, and I like to have a hanky with me too – there is a pocket for that as well. Because the shirt is so comfy, and much harder wearing than I expected, I wore it almost all the time on my travels. This means that the shirt is now linked to very many happy memories of places .
Now it becomes my favourite item in my cupboard.
